COURSE DESCRIPTION

Examination of human sexuality from a variety of perspectives: cultural, sociological, physiological and psychological. Issues examined from viewpoints such as gender, individual, family, and professional roles.

This course addresses diversity in detail and also includes coverage of the latest research on such topics as the depiction of sex in the media, sex in cyberspace, gender identity issues, breast implants, prostate cancer treatments, contraception technology, sexual orientation, artificial insemination, and sexually transmitted diseases. The title of the textbook is OUR SEXUALITY - an explicit acknowledgment that, for all of our differences, we all share the human experience of many sexual and relationship matters. Such matters cross cultural boundaries and sexual orientation lines: the body's physiological arousal and response to pleasure; overcoming the green-eyed monster of jealousy and communicating more effectively; the variety of sexual behaviors that can be explored; treatment possibilities for sexual dysfunctions; the need to protect ourselves from STDs; how our sexual satisfaction can improve with age even as the body changes; and how we help those who have been victimized by sexual attack, etc.

WHAT IS GENERAL EDUCATION CORE CURRICULUM:

This course has been certified as one in New Mexico State University's General Education Core Curriculum (GECC). The GECC attempts to foster intelligent inquiry, abstract logical thinking, critical analysis and the integration and synthesis of knowledge; it strives for literacy in writing, reading, speaking and listening; it teaches mathematical structures; acquainting students with precise abstract thought and numbers and space; it encourages an understanding of science and scientific inquiry; it provides a historical consciousness, including an understanding of one's own heritage as well as respect for other peoples and cultures; it includes an examination of values and stresses the importance of a carefully considered values system; it fosters an appreciation of the arts; and general education provides the breadth necessary to have a familiarity with the various branches of human understanding.

GENERAL EDUCATION POLICY REGARDING THE "LIBRARY RESEARCH ASSIGNMENT"

Viewing a Wider World - All students matriculated at the main campus at NMSU will take, preferably during their junior or senior year, two general education courses (at the 300 or 400 level) from two colleges other than their own. To be approved for inclusion here, each of these courses must include an assignment which will require the student to conduct a rigorous library based research assignment. In addition we recommend to the General Education Steering Committee that, where applicable, they give strong preference to those courses which strongly emphasize the international character and multicultural influences in the fields of study.
